

- Delia Fara and Gilbert Harman, Philosophy 523: Modal Logic as Metaphysics (Mondays 1pm to 3:40pm.)
  - The seminar will carefully study Timothy Williamson's important book, Modal Logic as Metaphysics (2013), following roughly the following tentative schedule.
    - February 2. Chapter 1, "Contingentism and Necessitism," and pp. 30-44 of Chapter 2, "The Barcan Formula and Its Converse: Early Developments".
    - February 9, Rest of Chapter 2, pp. 45-80.
    - February 16. Part of Chapter 3, "Possible Worlds Model Theory," pp. 81-118.
    - February 23. Rest of Chapter 3, pp. 119-147 and beginning of Chapter 4, "Predication and Modality," pp. 148-158.
    - March 2. Rest of Chapter 4, pp. 159-194.
    - March 9. Chapter 5, "From First-Order to Higher-Order Modal Logic," pp. 195-229.
    - (March 15: Princeton Spring break.)
    - March 23. Rest of Chapter 5, pp. 230-261.
    - March 30. Chapter 6, "Intensional Comprehension Principles and Metaphysics," pp. 262-300.
    - April 6. Chapter 7, "Mappings between Contingentist and Necessitist Discourse," pp. 305-339
    - April 13. Rest of Chapter 7, pp. 340-375.
    - April 20. Chapter 8, "Consequences of Necessitism," pp. 376-390.
    - April 27. Rest of Chapter 8 and "Methodological Afterword," pp.391-429.