Princeton-Rutgers Graduate Conference in Philosophy
Saturday, April 5, 2014 (Princeton)
& Sunday, April 6, 2014 (Rutgers)

Saturday, April 5, 2013 (Princeton)
301 Marx Hall

10:00-10:30AM – Breakfast (Tower Room, 1879 Hall)

10:30AM-12:00PM – Opening Keynote by Sarah McGrath (Princeton), “Prospects for Moral Perception”

12:00-1:00PM – Lunch (Tower Room, 1879 Hall)

1:00-2:30PM – Rebecca Millsop (MIT), "Arguing for Art Concept Pluralism,
Comments by Ashley Atkins

2:30-2:40PM – Coffee break (Tower Room, 1879 Hall)

2:40-4:10PM – Nicholas Laskowski (USC), "The End-Relational Theory of 'Good'
Does Not Vindicate Naturalism About Goodness”
Comments by Emad Atiq (Princeton)

4:10-4:30PM - Coffee break

4:30-6:00PM - Damon Crockett (UCSD), "Surface Color is Not Phenomenal Content”
Comments by Simon Shogry (Princeton)

6:00-7:00PM - Reception in Tower Room

7:00PM - Dinner for organizers, presenters, and commentators
Sunday, April 6, 2014 (Rutgers)
Rutgers Philosophy Seminar Room
106 Somerset St., New Brunswick (Floor 5)

11:00-11:30AM - Breakfast

11:30-1:00PM - Zach Barnett (Brown) and Han Li (Brown), "Selection and Merely Possible Disagreement"
   Comments by David Black (Rutgers)

1:00-2:00PM - Lunch

2:00-3:30PM - Yael Loewenstein (Arizona), "On the Direct Argument and the Burden of Proof"
   Comments by Daniel Rubio (Rutgers)

3:30-3:40PM - Coffee break

3:40-5:10PM - Matthew Mandelkern (MIT), "The Force and Content of Epistemic Modals"
   Comments by Peter van Elswyk (Rutgers)

5:10-5:30PM - Coffee break

5:30-7:00PM - Closing Keynote by Andy Egan (Rutgers)

7:00PM - Dinner for organizers, presenters, commentators, and hosts